

HB&O and MGI: putting the world at your feet

Forward-thinking businesses want to make the most of international opportunities for trade and commerce. But to do that successfully, you need the right professional advisers behind you.

As a member of MGI, one of the largest alliances of independent auditing, accounting and consulting firms in the world, we have instant access to the knowledge and resources of 286 offices in 82 countries.

So wherever in the world you, or the enterprises you advise, want to do business, you can work with firms with expert, reliable, local knowledge and the same emphasis on the highest quality of client care as our own to help that happen.

Whether you are an importer or exporter, new to international business or an experienced operator, looking to expand internationally or planning to set up an operation in the UK, we can open the door to unique strength and depth in local knowledge, national accountancy, tax and regulatory frameworks and business expertise.

Because MGI firms worldwide remain independent, they are able to offer the same client-focused approach as we do. So you gain all the benefits of working with a multinational accountancy firm, but delivered with the personal touch and attention that are so important in smaller, independent firms.

You can also be sure that demanding standards for the professional and operational competence of members mean that MGI is a symbol of quality worldwide.
